SECTION B: 50 MARKS

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer the question about it in full sentences

The environment is man and his immediate surrounding. It encompasses all living and non – living things and each thing plays a vital role in sustaining life on earth.

The environment comprises both biotic and abiotic factors. Biotic factors include all living organisms like plants, animals and micro organisms.

On the other hand, abiotic factors are non- living things such as air, water, soil, sunlight and temperature. However, they all influence and support life

The environment is crucial for our survival by providing us with essential resources like clean air, water and fertile land for growing crops. However, human activities like pollution, deforestation and overuse of resources are negatively impacting the once beautiful environment.

Therefore, it is important to protect our environment in order to ensure a sustainable future.

We need to adopt proper waste disposal, planting trees and controlled cultivation to mitigate the negative impacts of human activities.
